

Acknowledgments

All researchers using our equipment are required at least to acknowledge the CPAS core facility in publications. Acknowledgments in publications value the importance of the core facility to USF. Please find some examples of statement to acknowledge the facility in your publications:

- We thank the Chemical Purification Analysis and Screening (CPAS) core facility for using the “insert instrument(s)”
- This work has been supported in part by the Chemical Purification Analysis and Screening Core Facility (CPAS)

Co-authorship

For larger studies or projects that involve innovative experimental design, co-authorship is requested.
