Expanded Leadership Development & Engaging Experiential Learning

You will enhance your leadership skills through team collaborations. Most courses involve teamwork for research, case analysis, and presentations. For your capstone project, you will consult with a local company, covering strategy, marketing, and finance with actionable recommendations.

Networking Opportunities & Employer Info Sessions

Networking with classmates and employers is crucial during your MBA journey. You'll expand your professional network in class and through student organizations and college events. The college hosts two annual Corporate Connections events exclusively for graduate students to engage with corporate recruiters. Additionally, employer information sessions are held throughout the semester, offering insights from hiring managers about job skills and opportunities available to our graduates.

Mentors & Coaches

MBA students can request mentors who offer guidance on balancing work, life and studies, as well as exploring career paths. Mentors expand professional networks and provide networking opportunities. Students can also work with career coaches who work in Graduate Career Advancement—experienced industry leaders who help navigate career goals and understand corporate advancement.

A Global Approach

USF's MBA curriculum emphasizes the global nature of business, integrating international business models and case studies into classroom discussions. This global perspective extends to study abroad opportunities, offering shorter experiences for working adults and semester-long options for others. These experiences will help you adapt and succeed in an evolving business world. USF also provides exchange programs for graduate students, enabling you to study at select colleges overseas and earn MBA credits at USF tuition rates.
